Introduction
GENESIS OF GOOD GOVERNANCE
From Public Administration to NPM

- Public administration in developing countries termed as overstaffed, weak, corrupt and inefficient
- Globalization, liberalization and intensive application of IT

- New Public Management (NPM)
  - Prescribed by Brettonwoods institutions: WB, IMF
  - Optimizing resources
  - Alternative service delivery mechanisms
    - Performance measurement, Efficiency, Economy, Value for Money
  - Minimalist state
    - Grants, aids and loans in return for market oriented reforms

- Critique of NPM
  - Does not distinguish between public and private spheres
  - Focuses on market-led growth
  - Neglects social concerns and public welfare

- Reality dawns … … …
  - Failure of structural adjustment programs
  - Mounting fiscal debt

From economic reforms to governance…………..
Towards Governance

- World Bank publication ‘Sub-Saharan Africa - from crisis to sustainable growth’, 1989
  - Worsened economic performance in the region despite Structural Adjustment Programs (SAP’s)
  - Failure of public institutions cited as reason for weak performance
  - Term “governance” first used to describe the need for institutional reform and a better and more efficient public sector in Sub-Saharan countries
  - Defined governance as “the exercise of political power to manage a nation’s affairs”

“Africa requires not just less government but better government”

1989 study introduced Governance without explicitly referring to the connotation “good”
Governance

Governance is a method through which power is exercised in the management of a country’s political, economic, and social resources for development.

World Bank (1992)

Governance is the manner in which power is exercised in the management of a country’s social and economic resources for development.

Asian Development Bank (1995)

Governance is the process whereby societies or organizations make important decisions, determine whom they involve and how they render account.

Canada Institute of Governance (2002)

Governance is the exercise of economic, political, and administrative authority to manage a country’s affairs at all levels. It comprises the mechanisms, processes, and institutions through which citizens and groups articulate their interests, exercise their legal rights, meet their obligations and mediate their differences.

UNDP (1997)
Governance: Operation of 3 Key Actors

Governance: Goes beyond the Government

- State: Creating a favorable political, legal & economic environment
- Civil Society: Mobilizing peoples’ participation
- Market: Creating opportunities for people
Stakeholders in Governance

Executive
Legislature
Judiciary
Media
Political parties
Civil Society
Social Orgns.
Private Sector

Governance is too important to be left to the government....
Towards Good Governance

- Governance
  - Value neutral, ‘good’ governance to qualify governance
  - Further developed the concept of Governance
- Defines Good Governance
  - Synonymous to sound development management
  - Central to creating and sustaining an environment which fosters strong and equitable development
  - Essential component of sound economic policies
Defining Good Governance

- World Bank: Good governance entails
  - sound public sector management (efficiency, effectiveness, and economy),
  - accountability,
  - exchange and free flow of information (transparency)
  - and a legal framework for development (justice, respect for human rights and liberties).

- UNDP Good Governance is defined focusing on
  - legitimacy (government should have the consent of the governed),
  - accountability (ensuring transparency, being answerable for actions and media freedom),
  - competence (effective policy making, implementation and service delivery),
  - and respect for law and human rights.
Summary

- Public administration
  - Major constituent of state
  - Instrument to achieve state’s goals and objectives

- Goal of state - ‘Governance’
  - Traditional concept
  - Recent prominence

- Influence on Administration - NPM
  - Managerial orientation
  - Managerial reforms: Disinvestment, corporatization, outsourcing, shrinking state role
  - Larger collaboration between state, market and civil society - PPPs

- Globalization
  - + removal of trade barriers
  - + entry of MNCs
  - + intensive application of IT

Good Governance
COMPONENTS OF GOOD GOVERNANCE
Components of Good Governance: 4 Dimensional Framework - World Bank

- Public sector management
  - Public expenditure management (public investments, budget planning, budget processes)
  - Civil service reform (to manage less but manage better)
  - Reform of public enterprises (privatisation, strengthening management of PSEs, improving competitive conditions)

  Improvement in efficiency of public institutions

- Accountability
  - Constituted an innovation in the Bank’s sphere of action
  - Described as being “at the heart of governance”.
  - Described as “holding public officials responsible for their actions
  - Horizontal (internal) and vertical (external) accountability

  Concept of exit (access to other service providers) and voice (participation)

For the first time, quality of a government w.r.t its ability to satisfy needs of citizens apart from economic performance was put up for discussion.
Components of Good Governance: 4 Dimensional Framework - World Bank

- Legal framework for development
  - Important contribution to equitable and just society and thus to prospects for social development and poverty alleviation
  - Focus on judicial reform, legislative reforms, and the improvement of legal education and training

  Rule of law represents the legal dimension of good governance by a country

- Transparency and information
  - Economic efficiency
  - Prevention of corruption
  - Analysis, articulation and acceptance of governmental policy choices

- Corruption
  - Cross-cutting theme, across Transparency and information, Accountability, Rule of law and PSM
  - Enhanced engagement of Good Governance with anti-corruption since 1997

  Improving governance is certainly about fighting corruption, although it is also about much more than fighting corruption.
World Governance Indicators : 6 Dimensional Framework- World Bank

- Voice & Accountability
- Political Stability and Lack of Violence
- Government Effectiveness
- Regulatory Quality
- Rule of Law
- Control of Corruption

Social Accountability

- An approach towards building accountability that relies on civic engagement, i.e., in which it is ordinary citizens and/or civil society organizations who participate directly or indirectly in exacting accountability.
Grievance Redress

- Grievance redress mechanisms (GRMs) are institutions, instruments, methods, and processes by which a resolution to a grievance is sought and provided

- Integral to good governance – indicates responsiveness to citizens

- Grievance redress mechanisms
  - DAR&PG – nodal department for redress of grievances
  - Centralized grievance redress management system (CGRMS)
  - Ombudsman
    - For local government grievances in Kerala
    - For NREGS grievances
    - Central and State Information Commissions for RTI
  - Departmental grievance redress systems
  - Online grievance systems at state, department, municipality and district levels
e-Governance

- Transformation of government to provide efficient, convenient & transparent services to the citizens & businesses through information & communication technologies

- Easy to access single point delivery of public services to citizens
- Higher penetration due to automation
- Increased efficiency due to connectivity
- Increased accountability
- Reduced in cost of delivery of services
- Increased transparency
- Higher availability of public domain information
- Reduced Corruption

Conclusion

Good Governance may be a rhetoric, but good government, responsive administration and a just legal system are eternal requirements.

External drive to policy change to be replaced by local commitment and ownership of reform.

Ingenuous ideas for improving governance, ownership of initiative and commitment to reform extremely important.
